MEDIA RELEASE

Over $1M in Compressed Cannabis Seized in Tobago

The Trinidad and Tobago Police Service (TTPS) remains steadfast in its mission to disrupt drug trafficking and criminal networks, as officers in Tobago seized over $1 million worth of compressed cannabis following an intelligence-led operation on Thursday 26th June, 2025.

After several days of surveillance at the Scarborough Port, members of the Tobago Gang and Intelligence Unit (TGIU), intercepted a white Honda Civic vehicle, driven by a 25-year-old man of Bon Accord, at around 9:20 pm yesterday. When officers searched the vehicle, they discovered a hidden compartment in the trunk designed to resemble a standard gas tank. Upon closer inspection the team found 61 packets of compressed cannabis, weighing approximately 33 kilograms, concealed in the compartment. The street value of the narcotics is estimated at $1,152,000.

The officers arrested the suspect and seized the vehicle and illegal narcotics, which were taken to the Shirvan Road Police Station. Investigations are ongoing and are being spearheaded by PC Pierre.

Commissioner of Police, Allister Guevarro, has commended the officers involved for their diligence, intelligence-led approach, and unwavering commitment to service.

“This successful drug seizure is a testament to the teamwork and astute leadership of ACP Subero and Snr Supt Elie, and the hard work and dedication of our officers in Tobago. I commend Inspector Bacchus and the team at the TGIU for their outstanding performance. Success for the TTPS is success for the entire country—and every victory like this strengthens the safety and security of our nation,” Commissioner Guevarro said.
